| Job Description | |

SCAD Savannah seeks candidates for a full-time professor position in service design. The Service Design Program is the newest addition to a progressive platform of programs within the SCAD School of Design that includes interaction design, industrial design, design management and design for sustainability.

SCAD is the first university in the United States to offer B.F.A. and M.F.A. degree programs in service design. With demand for highly strategic service designers on the rise, these programs have been developed to prepare our talented students for professional, creative careers across many sectors in the U.S. economy and beyond.

We seek a highly motivated and senior level designer (or design strategist), with a solid track record of translating deep insights into innovative services, product-service systems, interactions and user experiences for well-known brands. The ideal candidate should be a visionary leader (or willing to become one) in this emerging and exciting field.

Requirements:

- a strong background in contextual research, co-creation, experience prototyping and interaction design
- a thorough understanding of service design methodology
- strong graphic and idea visualization skills
- creativity and flair
- strong project management skills
- terminal degree in interaction design, industrial design, service design, design management or a related discipline.
- demonstrated passion for inspiring and teaching; college-level teaching experience preferred

To perform this job successfully, an individual must be able to perform each essential duty satisfactorily. The requirements listed are representative of the knowledge, skill and/or ability required. Reasonable accommodations may be made to enable individuals with disabilities to perform the essential functions.

For complete submission requirements, please visit our website using the URL provided and follow application instructions.

Should you have questions regarding your application package, you may submit an email to Human Resources, at scadfaculty@scad.edu.

ABOUT THE COLLEGE: The Savannah College of Art and Design is the most comprehensive art and design university in the world, offering more degree programs and specializations than any other art and design university. SCAD is a private, nonprofit, accredited institution, conferring bachelor's and master's degrees in distinctive locations and online to prepare talented students for professional careers. SCAD offers students a choice of degree programs in 46 majors and 50 minors in locations in Savannah and Atlanta, Georgia, in Lacoste, France, online through SCAD eLearning and now in Hong Kong.
