Salary: Salary range of $67,000 to $70,000 annually, commensurate with experience, education, and qualifications

Position Details: The School of Art at Montana State University seeks to appoint an innovative and versatile educator in the Graphic Design program. The successful candidate will demonstrate a commitment to client based professional practice or scholarly research for a tenure-track appointment at the rank of either Assistant Professor. The preferred candidate will demonstrate skills within areas, from foundational through advanced levels: design foundations, typography and layout, ideation, and design thinking. Including specific skills in one or more of the following: user experience, user interface, social design, digital marketing, identity systems, social media, and visual storytelling. Additional desirable areas of expertise could include motion graphics, digital imaging, digital illustration, and animation. An ideal candidate will demonstrate the ability to work within multiple platforms, current and emerging digital platforms, and or related disciplines that combine digital with analog learning experiences. In addition, having either industry experience working as a designer or university teaching experience.

The successful candidate will teach within the Graphic Design schedule of classes at all undergraduate levels; perform committee duties at department, college, and university levels; continue their professional and/or research work in their area of specialization; and broaden connections to local, regional, and national communities within their area of expertise.

Duties and Responsibilities: In addition, the candidate will collaborate on curriculum development and assessment. Provide classroom instruction, classroom management like attendance, grading, student communication, integration of learning management software, preparation of course material including class syllabi, project/assignments, and exams, guiding classroom critique, consulting with students, replying to students' inquiries, facilitating course evaluations, and mentoring students beyond the classroom.

Required Qualifications:

1. MFA or MDes or MGD in graphic design or appropriately related field.
2. Demonstrate design skills within areas from foundational through advanced levels.
3. Experience in design foundations, typography and layout, ideation, and design thinking.
4. Expertise in Adobe Creative Suite and Mac OS.
5. Excellent communication skills, including verbal and written.

Preferred Qualifications:

1. Previous teaching experience at the college or university level.
