Fostering a culture of organizational citizenship and making others successful, demonstrating integrity, ethical conduct and optimism, active contribution and continuous learning enables staff to serve the goals and values of the University and creates a fulfilling and positive work experience for all.

The School of the Museum of Fine Arts at Tufts University seeks applications for a full time Studio Manager in Media Arts.

The Studio Manager manages and maintains the Media Art studios which include facilities for video, animation, film, sound, and digital media. The Studio Manager ensures that the studios are equipped, supplied, and configured to support the academic and creative goals of faculty and students. They provide technical support, consultation, and training to faculty and students on complex projects from initial concept to final product.

To apply for this position, please ensure you submit both a resume and a cover letter.

What You'll Do

Successful candidates will have:

- Strong proficiency and the ability to provide technical training in video production and post-production plus at least one of the following areas: animation, film, sound, VR/AR, 3D modeling, and physical computing.
- A deep commitment to cultivating an equitable educational environment that welcomes users of all levels, creative interests, learning styles, and identities.
- Excellent interpersonal skills, including clarity, generosity, and patience.
- Strong self-motivation and the ability to work independently.
- Exceptional problem-solving skills.
- A demonstrated ability to support students with a wide range of art projects across multiple media and technological processes.
- Experience in the production, post-production, and exhibition of media work within a fine arts context.
- An understanding of art school pedagogy and experimental art production.
