The College of Design, Architecture, Art, and Planning (DAAP) at the University of Cincinnati invites applications for a non-tenure track Assistant Professor - Educator position in Games and Animation (GAA) in the School of Art. The Games and Animation Program seeks applications from candidates with a wide range of expertise and experiences in Academia and/or Industry focused on the field of Game Design.

Located within the multi-national and culturally diverse University of Cincinnati, the School of Art hosts top-tier Interdisciplinary BFA and MFA programs as well as a BA in Art History and MA in Art Education. The School of Art is currently ranked among top programs nationwide and offers diverse academic and cultural opportunities. For more information about the School of Art, please visit: <https://daap.uc.edu/academics/soa>.

About the Program

Officially welcoming its first BFA cohort in Fall 2024, the Games and Animation (GAA) program is jointly housed between the College of Design, Architecture, Art and Planning (DAAP) and the College of Arts & Sciences (A&S) at UC. It combines the strengths of DAAP's School of Art, with its long-standing program commitments to electronic art, new media, and game art, and A&S's School of Communication, Film & Media Studies. The joint program offers a studio-based, collaborative approach to creating games and animation, both digital and analog. Students learn by doing, gain experience through cooperative education, and draw on the interdisciplinary technical and creative toolsets required by these media. This unique program mimics a studio approach in animation and games production studios, using students through different cohorts to produce senior projects. In GAA, there is no artificial separation between theory and practice, between art and industry, between conception and production.

Essential Functions

- Teach undergraduate studio and seminar courses in Animation and related areas including introductory, advanced level, and topical courses such as: Game Tools, Paradigms of Computer Based Learning, Intermediate Game Design, and Experimental Play. The teaching load for this position is 8 (3-credit) courses per academic year.
- Expand course offerings, bring a unique perspective to the Games and Animation Program, and promote approaches that support interdisciplinary practices in their pedagogy.
- Provide service to various School, College, and/or University committees such as Program Curriculum Committee.
