20 hours per week of assistance with teaching and administrative aspects of the elementary music program. At times, duties will be assigned outside the elementary music program that are compatible with the strengths of the candidate.

Stipend: $4000.00 per semester. Other benefits include tuition remission (six credit hours in the fall and spring semesters) and eligibility for health benefits.

Minimum Qualifications: Bachelor's degree in music, state teaching certification, and admission to the Graduate School. Teaching experience and technology skills preferred. No GRE is required for admission.

Renewal: Renewal is based on an annual review of the graduate student's academic performance, performance of assigned duties, needs of the department, and available funds.

Application Deadline: Applications and materials will be reviewed immediately and continue until the position is filled.

Audition: Applicants will submit a short video of themselves working in a classroom with children in lieu of an audition.

Date of Appointment: Fall Semester 2025

About the Master's Degree: This 30-hour program offers a combination of coursework in music education (13 hours), music history, research, philosophy, and theory (12 hours), and performance study opportunities (2 hours). Students also complete an independent study project on a subject of their choice within the realm of elementary music. Students will be challenged to develop a greater understanding and mastery of the music teaching-learning processes, to improve personal musicianship, and to become leaders within the music education profession.

About the School of Music: East Texas A&M University is the second-largest university in the A&M system, with satellite locations in five area cities. ETAMU offers the Master of Music in Music Education and the Master of Music in Performance with an emphasis in conducting or applied studies. A flexible degree plan provides graduate students an opportunity to adjust the curriculum to their individual interests. The School of Music holds full NASM membership and offers fully accredited undergraduate degrees in both Music Education (with emphasis in secondary choral, secondary band, or elementary general) and Performance (with emphasis in voice, instrumental, or piano) as well as a Bachelor of Arts. The School of Music is housed in a 30 million-dollar, state-of-the-art music facility in
