Job Description:

PROFESSOR OF PRACTICE (Non-Tenure-Track) SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY, THEATER MANAGEMENT/B.S.

The Department of Drama, within the College of Visual and Performing Arts, a highly ranked BFA program uniquely integrated with a major regional theater, seeks to hire a Professor of Practice with primary expertise in theater management. The department seeks a visionary leader who will guide the reimagining of this successful and highly flexible program to meet the needs of a rapidly evolving field. Additional expertise in areas such as organizational development/communication, commercial producing, or stage management is highly desirable. Core responsibilities: teach courses at all levels within the curriculum and serve as academic and creative advisor to program students. The preferred candidate will bring diverse perspectives to their pedagogy and will help the department to build a community of individuals from different backgrounds and walks of life. Syracuse University prides itself on being a university welcoming to all. In addition to a bachelor's degree, successful candidates will have significant experience in their field and a reputation that will enable them to serve as an effective conduit between the department, its students, and the profession. Preference given to those candidates with advanced degrees. This is a three-year position, beginning Fall 2026.

About the Department of Drama

The Department of Drama offers conservatory-style training at a major American university, combined with a level of integration with a professional theater company that is unparalleled among undergraduate programs. Our bachelor of fine arts (B.F.A.) degree programs in acting, musical theater, stage management, and theater design and technology as well as our flexible bachelor of science

Syracuse University is an equal-opportunity institution. The University prohibits discrimination and harassment based on race, color, creed, religion, sex, gender, national origin, citizenship, ethnicity, marital status, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression, veteran status, or any other status protected by applicable law to the extent prohibited by law. This nondiscrimination policy covers admissions, employment, and access to and treatment in University programs, services, and activities.

Syracuse University has a long history of engaging veterans and the military-connected community through its educational programs, community outreach, and employment programs. After World War II, Syracuse University welcomed more than 10,000 returning veterans to our campus, and those veterans literally transformed Syracuse University into the national research institution it is today. The University's contemporary commitment to veterans builds on this historical legacy, and extends to both class-leading initiatives focused on making an SU degree accessible and affordable to the post-9/11 generation of veterans, and also programs designed to position Syracuse University as the employer of choice for military veterans, members of the Guard and Reserve, and military family members.
