Creative Collaboration is a sequence of integrated project-based learning courses that address collaborative performance skills, composition, production, and technological fluency. The ideal candidate will help foster a community of engaged and welcoming collaborative music makers, both through coursework and in community-building beyond the classroom. Additional courses will be assigned based on the applicant's experience and expertise, and we welcome candidates with a range of backgrounds and expertise related to music and technology.

The School of Humanities, Arts and Social Sciences at Stevens values diversity and seeks candidates who can contribute to a welcoming climate for students. Stevens is an NSF ADVANCE institution committed to equitable practices and policies. We encourage qualified women and minority candidates to apply.

Stevens Institute of Technology, founded in 1870, is located in Hoboken, NJ, directly across the Hudson River from New York City. Stevens students, faculty, and partners leverage their collective real-world experience and culture of innovation, research, and entrepreneurship to confront global challenges in engineering, science, systems, and technology management. The School of Humanities, Arts and Social Sciences contributes to the mission of Stevens with programs that engage in research and creative activity at the intersection of science, technology, the arts, humanities, and social science in ways that benefit society.

Candidates interested in applying should prepare an application that includes a letter of application, current C.V., a statement on teaching, and the names and contact information for three references. Please combine all materials into a single document (MSWord or PDF) for submission. Review of applications will begin on January 3rd, 2024 and continue until the position is filled.

All applications must be submitted electronically through the HR website at:
