Teaching Professor (all ranks) or Instructor in Graphic Information Technology
Location: Arizona State University – Polytechnic Campus

The Ira A. Fulton Schools of Engineering at Arizona State University (ASU) and The Polytechnic School (TPS) seek applicants for a faculty Teaching Professor (all ranks) or Instructor position in the area of the Graphic Information Technology (GIT) program. The Polytechnic School (TPS), one of the eight Fulton Schools, houses a vibrant engineering teaching community and invites applicants to become a part of a dynamic and growing team that promotes transdisciplinary teaching, enables student success, supports transforming society, values entrepreneurship mindset, and conducts use-inspired research.

The Graphic Information Technology Program is housed on the Polytechnic campus and resides in the Ira A. Fulton Schools of Engineering. The GIT Program lives at the intersections of creativity, visual design and technology, preparing students to create visual content for multi-channel distribution – print, web, photo, video, and animation. Students receive a foundation in technology and business fundamentals with an emphasis on entrepreneurship and innovation. The program prepares graduates for careers as visual design technologists encompassing front-end Web design and development, printing and digital publishing, commercial photography and videography, and 2D/3D animation game art and animation.

We seek applicants who will contribute to our academic programs, promote transdisciplinary teaching and research, and help the university to achieve its aspirations. Faculty members in the Fulton Schools are expected to contribute to the standards of inclusive excellence in the undergraduate and graduate programs through effective pedagogical practices and instructions, delivery of courses that are on-campus and online, develop curriculum, advise and mentor student projects, and provide service to the program, college, and university. Service is an important component of these positions and demonstrated by the collaboration, cooperation, contribution, team building, leadership, and industry engagement of successful faculty.

Particular areas of interest include, but are not limited to:

Focus Area 1: 2D/3D Animation

3D Media Production

Visual Narrative in Motion Graphics

Computer Animation and Motion Graphics

Focus Area 2: Digital Design; Print, and Publishing

Printing Technology

Commercial Print Production

Color Management
